

WILL TOLERATE NO MORE DELAY

Citizens of West Side Want
Streets Opened and Want Them Opened Quickly.

COUNCIL GETS A CHANCE

WILL BE WAITED ON BY COM-MITTEE OF TAXPAYERS.

There is reason to believe that unless Councilmen Wood and Raybould, representing the Second municipal ward, wake up and do something quickly, they will hear something about a dull and sickening thud. Unless the whole council of Salt Lake wakes up and does something it will hear something about a dull and sickening thud.

The populace on the west side is aroused, and it claims it has a right to be aroused. At a mass meeting last night in the Twenty-fifth ward meeting house, which is at 438 South on Eighth West street, more than a hundred citizens, property owners all of them and taxpayers, met to protest against the closing of streets which they hold to be public thoroughfares connecting their section with the city proper. They protest vigorously and the meeting was violent; all of them were earnest.

What the Council Did.

In January, 1901, the city council granted to the Rio Grande Western Railroad company the right to close certain streets. These streets are Third South and Fifth South. It is said that at the time the council granted this permission to the railroad company it was represented to the city board that more ground was needed for tracks and for shops. But, say the citizens who dwell yonder way, their wishes in the matter were never consulted and when the councilmen who represented them ought to have been most alert they were fast asleep, and the railroad company got what it wanted.

At that time there were few, very few, houses in the neighborhood affected. Now there are hundreds of them. Then cows were herded where now are costly homes and beautiful lawns, and well-cared-for streets and good water and all the conveniences of modern living in a city, except the opportunity of employing rapid transit.

Property is Depreciated.

When the Rio Grande built board fences across the streets and shut off communication by vehicle between the city and the west side it did a thorough job of it, according to the testimony of those who are vitally concerned about this matter.

Two protests or petitions have already been sent to the city council in regard to the opening of the streets again. These petitions were in the form of applications signed by a number of taxpayers, but they did no good. Some of the men present at last evening's meeting declared that their property had decreased in value to an outrageous extent by reason of the closing of the streets, whereas, on the other hand, the taxes were all the while increased.

So the people called a mass meeting to discuss the matter and see what was best to be done.

Committee to Act.

Some of those present said they had had personal interviews with the councilmen representing the precinct, but had been told that "we can't do anything for you. The street is closed and will stay closed."

Patience was counseled and it was at length decided to give the council another chance to do the right thing, as seen by the property owners, and likewise the councilmen another chance to get busy.

After there had been much discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of five to draft a protest against the closing of the streets, to be presented to the city council next Monday. This committee consists of Wm. H. White, W. J. McDonald, John Sullivan, William Pitt and Fred Schmidt.

In addition to presenting the protest in writing, the members will back it up in person.

To the Supreme Court.

"If we do not get satisfaction from the council," said one of the prominent members present at the meeting last night, "we will certainly take this matter to the courts. We are told that we have a good case and we are determined to go to the limit. I hope it will not be necessary, but we will not stand for delay, for every day we are losing valuable time."

"The inevitable solution of the problem," said another, "is the building of a viaduct. The viaduct could be built on any of the streets, but the opinion seems to be that Fifth South is the most practical. I think that, ultimately, there will be viaducts in ample number, but this time we certainly need one very badly."

PETER GILLESPIE SWALLOWS ACID

Despondency Due to Ill Health
Causes Suicide of Well-known Character.

In a fit of despondency, due to ill health, Peter K. Gillespie of 427 East Sixth South street killed himself about 9 o'clock yesterday morning by drinking carbolic acid. His wife and two daughters found him writhing in pain in the yard and summoned Dr. J. S. Sharp, but before the physician reached the house Gillespie was beyond aid.

Gillespie was formerly proprietor of a gambling house in Salt Lake. He had a reputation for square dealing and was popular among the frequenters of his place because of his genial manners. When gambling was closed in Salt Lake he went to Montana. Failing health caused him to return to Salt Lake about three months ago.

He was suffering from heart trouble, and his condition caused frequent attacks of melancholia. Yesterday morning he went into the pantry adjoining the kitchen and took a bottle of carbolic acid from a shelf. Mrs. Gillespie saw him enter the pantry, but thought nothing of the matter. A few minutes later Miss Florence Gillespie found her father lying upon the ground in the yard, groaning with pain. She ran to his side. He was suffering intense pain. At his side was a bottle which she recognized as one which had been kept on the pantry shelf and had contained carbolic acid.

It was almost empty. In his grim determination to end his life Gillespie had swallowed a large quantity of the burning liquid and had apparently not taken the bottle of poison from his lips until he fell writhing upon the floor.

Everything possible was done to save his life, but he expired soon after Dr. Sharp reached his side.

Gillespie was 46 years old. He leaves a widow and two daughters—Miss Florence Gillespie, 16 years old, and Dorothy, 9 years old.

His brother, James K. Gillespie, is a member of the real estate firm of Kelsey & Gillespie.

The body was taken to Evans' undertaking establishment.

Kidney complaint kills more people than any other disease. This is due to the disease being so insidious that it gets a good hold on the system before it is recognized. Foley's Kidney Cure will prevent the development of fatal disease if taken in time. F. J. Hill Drug Co., "The Never Substitutors."

Call and see me. This is not a wild-cat nor a speculative proposition; no better or safer investment can be found on earth. Think of buying good land, with good water rights perfected, partly improved, good house and 40 buildings, putting up from 25 to 100 tons of hay, selling from $15 to $20 per acre, with two railroads right on our heels. Let me show you what we have. See our lists of properties. Let me tell you more of this beautiful valley and its resources. Business men, farmers and railroad men are investing in this country with good results. One man made $2,000 in sixty days with his investment. Another Salt Lake man bought 480 acres from us two years ago. He has never been in the country to see it. We have now sold the land for him again, and he cleared $10 an acre. If you are interested in Idaho lands, don't fail to see me. We have a general merchandise business for sale; a nice, clean, up-to-date line of goods, $9,500 stock, in one of the best locations in town. The business did $25,000 worth of business last year. Any man having $2,000 and can furnish reference can buy this business. Meet me at the Windsor hotel, Salt Lake, May 3; Reed hotel, Ogden, May 6, and Huntsville May 7.
